Manchester Airport

Manchester airport is the international gateway for the North of England and is the UK's largest regional airports. Its 3 terminals sees over 22 million people passing through the airport each year.

Terminals

Terminal 1 is the busiest terminal and includes the airlines Air France, bmi, Lufthansa, Ryanair and SAS.

Terminal 2 include Air France, Continental, Delta, US Airways and Virgin Atlantic. Terminal 3 include British Airways, American Airlines, Finnair and LOT Polish. The Terminal is also used for UK Domestic flights.

Facilities

Located at Terminal 1, the Airport Business Centre offers a wide range of professional business support services including meeting room hire, video conferencing and a message taking service.

Manchester Airport can cater for up to 400 people at its dedicated conference and banqueting facilities. Executive lounges are situated in all terminals at the Airport and at the Business Centre. These allow passengers to escape from the crowded airport terminals and enjoy all the benefits of an airport lounge.

Transport

Manchester International Airport is located beyond the city limits, about ten miles from the city centre. A taxi from the airport to Piccadilly – the ‘beating heart’ of Manchester – should only cost around £20 for a single journey.

Manchester Airport railway station is in the heart of the airport complex with Skylinks connecting the three terminals to the upper level of the railway station.

There are regular connections from the Airport to Manchester Piccadilly. From Monday to Saturday six trains an hour run between the Airport and Manchester Piccadilly during the day with four per hour on Sundays. The train only takes 20 minutes, so is ideal
